

Racial and Religious Tolerance Policy

Wodonga Institute of TAFE is committed to the aims and objectives of the Racial and Religious Tolerance Act 2001 (the Act).

The Institute recognises that people come from culturally and linguistically diverse and Indigenous backgrounds and observe many different religious beliefs and practices. The Institute embraces the benefits provided by this cultural diversity. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, Wodonga Institute of TAFE will not tolerate conduct by its employees, students, clients or members that incites hatred against, serious contempt for, or revulsion or severe ridicule of another person, group of persons or class of person(s).

Wodonga Institute of TAFE recognises the value of transparency and accountability in its administrative and management practices, and supports the making of disclosures that reveal racial and religious vilification. Where instances of racial and religious vilification are identified, the matter will be dealt with in accordance with the Institute's anti-discrimination and sexual harassment procedures.
